LIVERPOOL HOPE UNIVERSITY

THE JOHN HENRY NEWMAN PERSONAL PAPERS

"Contents of the Cardinal's Cupboards"

Introduction

In the summer of 2013 Liverpool Hope University purchased a complete set of the John Henry Newman microfilm personal papers. This set of microfilms (144 reels in total) consists of several thousand documents, letters and memoranda from the personal collection of the Blessed John Henry Newman (1801-1890). Liverpool Hope University is now the only known institution outside of North America to have a complete copy of the mentioned microfilm.

Explanatory Note

The films whose contents are listed in the following schedule reproduce a major portion of the Newman manuscripts preserved at the Oratory of St. Philip Neri, in Birmingham, England. The Oratory collection is divided into two parts: the Miscellaneous Papers, which are preserved in the room in which Newman lived; and the Letters, which are preserved in the Archivium. These two collections have been listed separately, and a means of referring to the original documents has been provided by giving the cupboard number (e.g. A 1.1) of the Papers and the title of the volume (e.g. "Personal Collection Acton") of the Letters. It should be said, by way of warning, that there are actually a good many letters in the collection known as Miscellaneous Papers.

The user of these films can discover from the list of titles the manuscripts he wishes to consult. The number at the right indicates the reel in which it will be found, and the number at the left (batch number) will help him identify its position within the reel. It will be noted that, because of difficulties experienced in the filming, the reel numbers and the batch numbers do not always run concurrently, but this does not mean that any material has been omitted. An asterisk indicates that a few frames were found to be faulty in the batch and these have been re-photographed in reel no. 3.
