Description

The books described in this catalogue are housed in Liverpool Hope University Archives and Special Collections located in The Sheppard-Worlock Library on the Hope Park Campus. To access the reference only collection please email specialcollections@hope.ac.uk to arrange an appointment. The Reading Room is open Monday to Friday, 9.30am-16.30pm, subject to University closures over the Christmas vacation period. A list of abbreviations of the names of the Wordsworth family members appears below. These abbreviations are also used in this description.

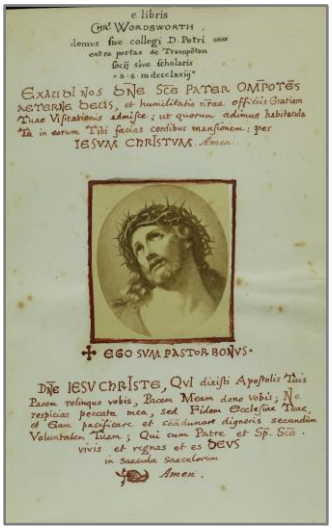
The collection consists of over 1000 books, including many bound volumes of tracts, mainly from the libraries of the poet William Wordsworth's [WW] brother Christopher and Christopher's children and grandchildren. Known as the Bishops' Wordsworth Collection (there were three Bishops: Christopher's sons Charles, Bishop of St. Andrews, and Christopher, Bishop of Lincoln, and Christopher's son John, Bishop of Salisbury), it contains a remarkable amount of first-hand information concerning Victorian church affairs and controversies, and provides an illuminating insight into the interests and activities of one of the church's most influential dynasties.

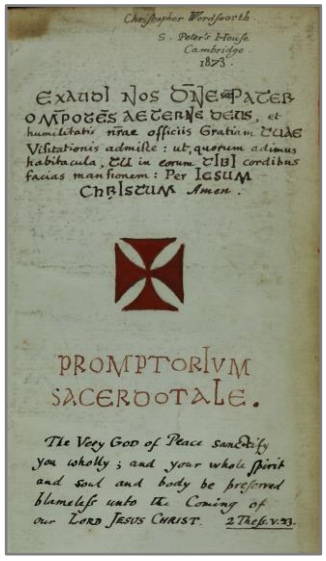
The earliest date at which any of the items in the collection were owned by members of the Wordsworth family appears to be the early 1820s, for example, Christopher Wordsworth, Bishop of Lincoln [CW] Winchester Accounts Book, A/11, which dates from 1821, and CW/C2/218, a school prize won by CW in 1823, when he was 16. With the exception of a few volumes in C7 - Other Books, which have found their way into the collection from elsewhere, the volume with the latest publication date is CW/C5/405, a copy of the journal of the Canterbury and York Society from 1936, excepting CW/C7/143, Service of the Synagogue: a new edition of the festival prayers with an English translation in prose and verse: Passover published in 1937, which seems likely to be a genuine part of the collection. The collection was sold after 1937 and by Epiphany 1939 had moved to the Radcliffe Library, Liverpool Cathedral, as a service card in CW/B6/1 testifies.

The books appear to have been all or part of the library of Christopher Wordsworth, Sub-Dean of Salisbury [Chris W], as the largest section of the catalogue lists books which belonged to him alone, while a significant proportion of the other books contain inscriptions by older members of the family but also by Chris W, suggesting that they had passed at some stage to him. There are a few indications in the catalogue of the process by which this happened (CW/C2/204; CW/B4/15), and there are also a few external mentions of the movements of books and papers prior to their assimilation into Chris W's collection. John Wordsworth, Bishop of Salisbury's [JW] biographer, for example, recorded that on John W's death "his papers passed his nephew and namesake, Bishop John Wordsworth [JW], who always cherished a pride in this uncle, and had certainly been stirred to emulation". Chris W was, in any case, an avid collector of family material, and he was not the first Wordsworth to be so inclined. The Wordsworths were keen to keep the writing of family biographies within the family. CW published the official memoirs of WW and Charles Wordsworth, Bishop of St. Andrews [Charles W] published two volumes of his own autobiography Annals of my Early Life 1806-1846 and Annals of my Life 1847-1856.

JW finished that series with his The Episcopate of Charles Wordsworth and Elizabeth Wordsworth [EW] supplied much of the material for the biography of CW, which she co-wrote with Canon J.H. Overton; and she, completing the circle, wrote her own biography of WW.

Books are divided into three main groups A, B, and C. A houses 14 manuscripts arranged in order of the date of birth of the author. B houses books written by members of the Wordsworth family, split into six similarly chronological sections, B1-B6, arranged alphabetically by title. C houses books which belonged to members of the Wordsworth family, and is arranged similarly, C1-C6, alphabetically by author and C7 'Other Books', contains those items with no trace of their ownership. It is likely that many of these volumes were Chris W's, but, as there are no signatures, stamps or annotations, it is impossible to say. Some have clearly entered the collection from the Radcliffe Library, for example, CW/C7/108 originates from the Liverpool Cathedral Cloisters Guild Library. Similarly, there are books still in the Radcliffe Library which should belong to the collection, for example, Chris W's personal prayer books with handwritten half-title pages, dated 1873 when he was only 25 years old [Bib ID 304259 and CW/C5/335 see illustrations below], and also numerous Alcuin Club Tracts [A1]. For ease of use they have been kept with corresponding material in the Liturgy section of the Radcliffe Collection.





A number of rare books originally belonging to this collection were assimilated into the pre-1801 holdings of the Radcliffe Collection, held at Liverpool University prior to its transfer to Liverpool Hope University following the refurbishment of The Sheppard-Worlock Library in 2012 and the provision of an environmentally controlled space to preserve the collection for future generations.

23. Commoner Word-Book - Winchester 1834-65. Chris W's signature. Volume containing: map of Winchester College bounds, with Chris W's notes and his longer note; "This glossary is taken from a copy of School Life at Winchester College; or the reminiscences of a Winchester Junior ... by the author of 'the Day of the Waterlily' 'the Water-lily on the Danube,' &c &c [R.B. Mansfield] London: J Camden Hotton 1870 ed.2. The glossary by Algernon Simeon Ch. Ch. Oxon. I have entered some additions from R.G.K Wrench's Winchester Word-Book, Nutt, 4to, 1891, pp viii + 53". Pasted in is a printed account, by Chris W, of "A Commoner Junior's Library, 1821", about a list of CW's books which was written in his Winchester Accounts Book; see Al 1. "My Father's old 'Compos-Book', which bears on its cover the appropriate inscription, "Oculus ne Obtrudite, Vulgus', contains, besides various boyish productions in English and Latin metre, a few rough sketches of bargees, Warden and Master's seats, etc, the following list of his own books, made in the summer of 1821. As he notes in another place, 'Founder's Oh., September 27th, 1820, Wednesday, Has Vidiprimum sedes', it is clear that this catalogue represents the contents of his library in his 'toys' and elsewhere, possibly some of them left at home, before he had been a full year in Commoners. In December, 1820, he 'got books', in Junior Part Vth, a copy of 'Thompson's Seasons, 8V°1811,' with the arms of the Marquis of Buckingham, with the motto, 'Templa quam Dilecta' beneath, and 'Winchester College, 1820', round it. He was a great reader, and I remember the second master of my time, 'Jack' Wickham, recognising the little Virgil which I took 'up to books' as what my father used to read on 'hills' forty years before. At the same time he was not a 'mugster' only; for he broke the record in his run to Twyford and back, off Hills. When he was prefect he was fond of bat-fives, until he had the misfortune to stun a junior, who was so silly as to run across the ballcourt, between him and school-wall, from the fives court which flanked it; after which misadventure he would play that game no more, Like many Wykehamists, he was a neat field, and made 3 and 36, and caught (Cardinal) Manning for 'Crocketts', at Lords in 1823 (when his elder brother, later Second Master of Winchester, made 17 and 5, and took 6 and 3 wickets for Harrow). I have seen my father, when Bishop of Lincoln, at age seventy, making 3s and 8s on the ice at Riseholme with skates which had been his father's (Master of Trinity), with a little girl sitting on his shoulders. And I have seen him rowing with the Selwyns and Dean Burgon on the Thames at Oxford, and playing with his brother and Dr. Moberly on 'turf at Winchester, when all three were Bishops". Chris W reprints CW's book list, July 16th 1821, which includes: 'Wordsworth, W., Miscellaneous Poems, 4 vols., 12mo. Wordsworth, W., White Doe, 4to. Wordsworth, W., Excursion, 8TO Wordsworth, Dr. Chr., Sermons, 2 vols., 8vo. Wordsworth, Dr. Chr., Ecclesiastical Biography, 6 vols., 8V0. The list also contains the following footnotes: "I have an odd volume of Gronovius' Tacitus, 12ffl0, Glasg., 1743, with the autograph of the poet, 'Wordsworth St, John's"; "I have a copy of Hutchinson's Encyclopaedia of Xenophon, Cantab., 1785, which has the boyish autograph of Wm. Wordsworth (the poet), and C. Wordsworth (Master of Trin. Coll., Cambridge)". Rest of volume contains aforementioned glossary interleaved with many additions by Chris W and note: "I appear at some time from his letter dated [sic] '17 Market Hill, Cambridge', sine anno to have lost my word-book to Mr. A. Percy Allsopp", and finally a letter from Mr. Hotton to Chris W, thanking him for the loan of this volume, and Chris W's note: "But Mr. Hotton is dead, and I have never heard or seen of either part of the fair copy of my Commoner's Word Book since. Chr. W. May 1881". MISSING

24. Herodoti Historia Tom I. (Oxford, 1861), Chris W's copy bound with interleavings and v.extensive notes. "Chr. Wordsworth bound Aug. 1815 (Drummond's Perth)" in Chris W's hand. MISSING

25. Account of the Masters of the Fabric of Salisbury Cathedral 1527-28. Alt. title: Masters of Fabrics 1527 - 8. MS 150 Psalter, c.970. MS 56. "Treatises on a Religious Life, Miracles of B.V. Mary Tungal" p. 58, "Honorarium Sapiencie. Ric of Hampole's Regula Viviendi. Bosenquet's West lavington Missal" p. 81. "Transcriptions & notes of MSS material in Salisbury Cathedral Library". Contains letter from Librarian of Sidney Sussex, Cambridge, 1930, confirming a MS query of Chris W's (this letter seems to be missing).

26. Sanctorale Sarum (iii. col. 1047-1120) Novemb. 15-29. Latin excerpts from ? Sarum Rite for 15-29 November glued in to note book with a few notes by Chris W.
